Court to Review State Patronage Employee Status

A hearing on an injunction suit filed by Illinois Democrats to stop the patronage employees of the state of Illinois from being held Saturday in Circuit Court at Springfield.

Democrats claim the Republicans are attempting to place the state's patronage employees under full civil service status until a full hearing is held.

Lewis succeeded the late Democrat Paul Powell, who died in 1970. Illinois Democrats claim that Lewis improperly fired some employees when he took over the office. The suit claims that because of it, job security for those hired to replace Powell's employees should be nullified.

Many patronage workers hired by Lewis were placed on probation under new personnel code in July and are said to be certified, granted full civil service status, in January before Democrat Michael Howlett takes over the office. Salt Flats

The suit was filed for five former secretary of state employees and a sixth who wants a job in the office. Howlett said he would test all employees to determine if they are qualified for their jobs, but if they are certified, it could be difficult to fire those found unqualified unless the entire category hiring new workers takes the same services. This has been done in the past.

The suit lists Allan Drury, state personnel director, and a member of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's administration, as the defendant. It was filed in Cook County in the hope it can be settled faster than similar suits pending in U. S. District Court.

Illinois Teachers Have Chance at Overseas Jobs

Illinois teachers will have a chance at an estimated 2,000 overseas teaching jobs at a Conference on International Teaching Opportunities Sunday in Chicago.

The first of its kind conference sponsored by the State School Board and the Illinois Department of Education, will bring representatives from seven countries seeking American teachers to discuss their educational needs and recruit from the state's growing surplus of qualified teachers.

Countries scheduled to participate in the Sunday conference include Mexico, Great Britain, Philippines, India, Yugoslavia, Germany, Australia and Japan.

Also present to explain their programs and recruit participants will be representatives of the Department of Defense which annually recruits some 15,000 teachers and interested independent schools in 26 countries, the Institute of International Studies which administers the Fulbright-Hays scholarships, and the Institute of International Education which conducts overseas study programs and teacher exchange programs.

Unique Opportunity

Bakals said the conference will provide a unique opportunity for teachers needing work and countries needing teachers to get together directly. All participants will leave the conference with "firm contracts for overseas teaching positions."

Conference plans call for a 10-minute presentation by each representative detailing his particular teaching needs, qualifications, salary, living conditions, cost of living and fringe benefits.

Following the formal presentations, participants will meet in designated areas with representatives of the countries and organizations to interview for teaching positions.

The conference is scheduled to begin at 12:30 p.m. and conclude at the Sherman Hotel. It is open to any teacher seeking or interested in international teaching opportunities. Registration is not required.

Mercury Vapor Street Lights To Be Tested

An ordinance authorizing the Illinois Power Co. to install 16 mercury vapor lights, 11,000 lumens each, as a pilot project to determine a comparison with incandescent street lights now in use was approved by the Granite City Council Monday night.

The ordinance was approved at the request of Alderman Paul Schuler, chairman of the council's Lighting Committee, who said the committee wanted to determine if better lighting results may be obtained with the use of fewer lights.

Street lights now provided in areas between the city and the power company are of 4,000 lumens in the alleys and 6,000 lumens in the streets.

The mercury vapor lights will be installed at 11th and Main and 2525 Northbridge, 4 Charlestown Circle, 2520, 2544, 2568 and 2584 Revere's Route, 2346, 2336 and 2319 Emert St., and 2328 Willow Ave., and 2328 Zippel St.

The groups will attempt to determine if all business have obtained licenses and if all licenses are current.

NCAA Soccer Semifinals Underway Today at SIUE

U.S. offense against defense today in at least one contest of the National Collegiate Athletic Association's college division soccer semi-finals at Cougar Field, Schoolcraft Hill, University of Edwardsville will be hosting its second national tournament. The championship single game final will be at 8 p.m.

The first game started at 11 a.m. today as Chico State of California tangled with Oneonta State of New York. At 1:30 p.m., barring no overtimes in the first game, the next SIUE kickoff will battle the high scoring University of Baltimore eleven.

It's the U.S. vs. Baltimore game with defense against offense. For the season, the Baltimore Bees of Coach Bill Edel have scored 99 goals while racing to a 16-34 record, not in their game against Cougars. But the Cougars' 14-4 record, Cougars, the Bees will be going against one of the stinkiest defenses in the nation. Goalie Rick Bepko has six shutouts, Dennis Doherty, Jim Driscoll, Steve Elliott, Tim Putnam and a pair of All-American candidates, co-captains Vince Fassi and Kevin Howe, are rugged on defense.

Howe and Fassi, the two-man cornerstone of the Cougar defense have now played together through four years of college, four of high school (Chico State, Bronx Community, St. Louis), and at least four seasons in parochial ball. And their team mate at CBC was Bepko.

Bronx Score Puffin

The Bronx one-two scoring punch is Dennis Hresko and Tom Michel. Hresko has racked up 38 points in 26 games and last night Michel had 36 points on 16 goals and 20 assists. If the Cougar defense can stymie Hresko and Michel, then it must worry about three others in the double header — each (22 on 12 and 11). Charles Myers (20 on 13 and 7) and Rich Cuomo (19 on 11 and 8).

Going against the Bronx are carbon copies of Bronx players (15 on 11 and 2), John Stremlau (9 on 6 and 3), Tom Tewellman (6 on 4 and 2) and Steve Caciatoro (5 on 2 and 3). Today the Bronx will battle the Bees, the national college division soccer champion, the first in the history of the NCAA. Up until this season there had only been one tournament.

In today's opening game, Oneonta State depended on four point-makers who have racked up 10 or more goals, pacing the Red Dragons to their 15-1 record, which is second only to the Cougars' undefeated mark. The New Yorker's trio of scorers are Carlos Camacho with 16 points (12 goals and three assists), Ben Bishop with 12 points (11 goals and seven assists) and Joe Howarth with 13 points (on seven goals and six assists).

Little is known about the 13th ranked St. Louis team, but as far as individual scoring is concerned, but Chico State has to be tough judging by the opposition it met and beat advancing to the final field.

Chico State has a 1-0 victory over top-ranked Westminster College of California; a 3-2 triumph over the Cougars; and a 2-1 win over the team which played the St. Louis University Bills to a 1-1 deadlock early in the season, plus a heart-breaking, down-to-the-wire loss to nationally ranked San Jose State, a power in American college soccer for years.

Trojan Cagers to Play In Tiger Holiday Meet

The Edwardsville Holiday Classic basketball tournament will be held for the fifth year Dec. 27-28, with sessions each day from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Lincoln of the Big 12 Conference is the defending champion and probably will be selected first in the year's tournament.

The Beltsplitters have four starters back from last year and have been rated as one of the best teams in the country.

The 1971 meet, Norm Cook leads the return Lincoln contingent coached by Duncan Reid. Cook broke the individual game scoring record with 40 points and tied two other tourney marks as Lincoln's successful championship drive.

The tournament has four new faces this year — Wood River, Madison, Hillsboro and Robinson.

Madison returns all but one year's absence. Hillsboro won the Edwardsville tournament last year and put on a fine exhibition against Alton in the latter's regional bowing in a close struggle. Hillsboro also has a good team back and could rate as the tournament darkhorse.

Runrupper East St. Louis, Edwardsburg and Bloomington, Illinois, will be the other teams in the 1972 tournament.

Prather Mat Records Set

The Prather Junior High School wrestling team rewrote that school's record books yesterday afternoon, defeating Christian Brothers College 74-2.

The 74 points was only one shy of a perfect score as the Chiefs earned eight pins, four forfeits and had only one tie.

Winners by pins, their weight classes and times of the matches were: Bob Ward (105), 1:45; Glen Moore (112), 1:32; Randy Keeter (126), 0:29; Paul May (132), 1:12; Randy Smith (138), 1:59; Jerry Patterson (167), 1:11; and Dennis Cavar (heavyweight), 1:48.

Forfeits, scored the same as pins, were in the 87, 98, 145 and 155-pound weight classes as well as the 112, 126 and 132. No one wrestle in those spots who were ineligible in the ninth grade meet. The only draw was a 5-5 decision in the 185-pound match.

Optimists Hear SIEU Wrestling

The development of the sports program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was discussed by Larry Kristoff, coach of the university's wrestling team, at a meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club.

He explained the plans and achievements of several sport programs and related his experience as a coach. Several events leading up to his becoming coach at the Edwardsville

A native of Carbondale, Ill., he attended school there. He now lives in East Alton.

President Maurice Dailey presided at the meeting at the YMCA, and announced that

Boundaries of Metropolitan Port Expanded

Approval of a proposal to expand the official boundaries of St. Louis' port to change its boundaries was announced jointly Tuesday evening by William L. Behan Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis and Colonel Guy E. Jester, district engineer, Corps of Engineers, St. Louis District.

The announcement was made before nearly 800 at the Chamber's 1972 annual meeting and banquet at the Lorraine Motor Hotel.

Richard T. Baker, managing partner of Ernst & Ernst, certified public accountants, was the featured speaker on the dinner program.

The new size of the port area strengthens the St. Louis area's position as one of the nation's leading river ports.

With the new boundaries, it is now exceeded in size on the Mississippi River system, only by the two deep-sea ports of New Orleans and Baton Rouge.

St. Louis is the largest upstream port in the country.

The Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis was instrumental in securing the new port definition. Several months ago, the Chamber had urged the Bi-State Development Agency to request the change from the Corps of Engineers.

The Corps was asked to study the official port boundaries and revise them if feasible, for river port reporting purposes.

In the effort, the Chamber and Bi-State, the only port body having legal authority on both sides of the river, were also joined by Mayor A. J. Cerny.

The area encompassed by the new port boundaries will be known as the "Port of Metropolitan St. Louis." It has been known as the Port of St. Louis.

The new port area, nearly four times the size of the previous port area, incorporate a regional St.

port which extends for 71 miles on both sides of the river. The previous port limits were 19

miles.

The increased size will include 50 docks not previously been within the statistical port area.

In effect, the change doubles

the reported total cargo handled by area port agencies and port user activities within this area. In the past, the Port of St. Louis, for statistical reporting purposes included the Mississippi River

from River Des Peres to Watkins Creek or roughly the area within the city limits of St. Louis and the opposite riverbank.

Behan said, "For the first time ever, statistics will more adequately reflect our large amount of waterborne commerce and provide us with coordinated data for services and harbor activity in the St. Louis area."

New harbor limits start at the midpoint of Piasa Island Mile 209 on the north and extend to Mile 128 near Monroe County (Ill.) Line on the south.

The Port of Metropolitan St. Louis now includes 107 river-dock and support facilities and can handle more than 20 million tons of cargo annually, he predicted.

Col. Jester said, "While the change does not affect what we do for implementation, it does mark a significant achievement in working together. It is another step forward in the development of plans to improve our competitive position for our port and the industries it serves."

Later in the annual-meeting program, Baker delivered the principal address. His topic was "Some Thoughts on Commerce," and the former resident of St. Louis, Baker heads the Ernst & Ernst nationwide organization from headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio.

John S. Stump, chairman of the Chamber's Century of Commerce Club, presided over the organization's recognition of St. Louis-area firms that are 100 years old or older. This year, the Chamber presented certificates of honor to 12 such organizations.

Other participants in the program were: Donald E. Lasater, Chamber's president-elect for 1973; Harold E. Thayer, president of the St. Louis Regional Chamber and Growth Association; Robert W. Johnson, executive vice-president of the Chamber and the RCGA; and W. L. H. Griffin, chairman of the annual banquet.

The Chamber of Commerce is a component of the St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Association. Other components are the St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corporation and the St. Louis Research Council.

State Demands Dental School Stay in Alton

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's school of Dental Medicine likely will remain in Alton indefinitely at least if the Illinois Board of Higher Education has its way.

Dr. James B. Holderman, executive director of BHE, said this week that the dental school should remain in Alton because of the $3.5 million investment which SIUE has made to renovate and equip former Sharleff College campus at Alton.

BHE president John S. Renfro originally said he planned to keep the dental school at Alton until about 1975, then move to Edwardsville. Last month the administration promised to keep it in Alton at least 10 years to please the Bureau of the Budget. He has not commented publicly on the BHE decision.

Holderman indicated that the BHE, which controls most capital improvements at Illinois schools, will recommend further development of the Shawnee Hills campus. He added that he would like to request funds to move the facility to Edwardsville.

MORE ABOUT
EPA Studies

In October, but after the plan was forwarded to the United States Environmental Protection Agency it was found by the Agency that Corn Sweeteners, Inc., had announced that it was closing down most of the operations at its plant located in Granite City.

This industry contributed approximately 5.95 MGD of the Granite City sewage treatment plant's hydraulic load and approximately 60% of the plant's present organic load.

The agency (EPA) must now consider whether or not to make the specified plan for the Granite City Intensive Study Area, to recommend the construction of a smaller plant as more closely conforming to anticipated future conditions. It appears that the proposed plant may be oversized and its cost-effectiveness is therefore questionable.

"Approval of the plan by the United States Environmental Protection Agency is also now in question because of the above-mentioned factors."

"The petitioner held a Federal grant priority status for seven for a Fiscal Year 1972 grant. However, because of the questions raised by the agency, the agency with the evidence for justification of construction of the plant with the capacity originally contemplated."

"The agency believes that in the event that a variance is granted for the petitioner to design a new plant, approximately an additional six months would be necessary for completing the required additional engineering work."

"The agency also believes that it is not necessary to design a new plant in order to receive grants; the petitioner should proceed as swiftly as possible to come into compliance with the board's regulations."

"The problem involves a number of complex questions which have no available answers as yet."

"The agency, however, believes that in approximately 60-90 days, the question of whether or not the SIMAPCO Plan will be amended to recommend construction of a smaller plant as being more cost-effective can possibly be resolved, and a final United States Environmental Protection Agency approval of the plan could be received.

"This would include the time necessary for the petitioner to present SIMAPCO and the agency with the evidence for justification of construction of the plant with the capacity originally contemplated."

MORE ABOUT Madison

trial growth will benefit every-

It will not only bring added revenue to our city but it will bring added revenue to the business men bring more employment to our citizens, keep property values up and make our city a healthy community.

The city of Madison's ability to raise revenue for its operating needs is handicapped because we're boxed in on both sides. Therefore we cannot re-claim additional taxes from assessment rolls for additional subdivisions.

We are fortunate that the late Stephen A. Maeras and the community we have invested the bridge money in the industrial park will be helping the city tremendously, but falls way short of what we need.

The city is operating on a budget of approximately $900,000. We receive only approximately $230,000 from corporate taxes which means we must raise $670,000 from other sources.

Every year our financial condition and situation will become more difficult because the cost of running a city increases each year. What is the solution to our problems? It is to raise money and means to raise additional revenue for our city. How do we do it? We can't raise your property tax now because we're at the limit, and you would have to move if we did so. This administration is going to make proposals which we are confident will raise more revenue for the city.

We are proposing a new will which will cost approximately one million, the other will cost approximately $250,000. These projects will increase revenue to the city three ways.

One will broaden our tax rolls and the other will be that this will increase the sales in Madison tremendously, bringing in money to our city within two years. Third, it will bring added employment. This will be done at no cost to our taxpayers.

Street Program

The second project will be a $750,000 street program whereby we will blacktop all the streets in Madison at no cost to the taxpayer. An off-the-books income will be paid from motor fuel tax funds which we receive from the state.

The third project we have in mind for the city of Madison are grants at our industrial park which will also broaden our tax rolls and bring more employment to our city. This also will be done at no cost to our taxpayers.

The other project we have in the drawing board is homes for the elderly.

All of these projects can be a reality, at no added taxes, providing you the business people of Madison civic leaders and citizens want it to be.

One more project we have on the drawing board is for the younger set. This is a ice skating rink. We would like to get the other project on the ground and see their progress go into this one because plans of financing this project have not been completed.

I know you're probably wondering where you as an individual fit into our program.

Needs Committee

We want a committee of ten persons who will function as a advisory group with our aldermen and myself to exercise a course of action in decisions and policies for our programs. After we discuss the needs of each project they will advise or criticize and when our plans are formulated they will report back to this group for final action.

As I stated before, the only way this program can be successful, is if we have involvement from people like yourselves. If we have your cooperation in the near future, we will have not only completed our projects but we believe that we will have a chance to put every able bodied man who wants to work in one of our projects and eliminate unemployment in our state.

This administration is trying to motivate everyone here to get involved so that we can have a new city of Madison that we can be proud of.

no one can ridicule or criticize. We make mistakes but we are honest. We are dedicated and we know we will hurt some feelings, but we will make some happy," he said.

Ebersold was having reconstructive surgery and could not attend.

During this period, the board declared a "state of emergency" in the area drained by Harding Ditch, which includes portions of State Park Place and Canton Street.

To Dredge Ditch

In an attempt to solve the problem, the board agreed to lease a large hydraulic dredger to clean and dredge the ditch. Under a state of emergency, the board may spend up to $2,500 without voter approval.

The dredger will be leased from a St. Louis firm for $100 per day and may be used for up to 25 days before the money runs out.

During this period, the board agreed to seek bids for four teaching positions and a similar budget to complete the project. It is estimated the unit, if purchased, would cost about $75,000.

The board voted to draw on the Madison County Engineering firm of St. Louis and hire Hursh & Roch's of Hillsboro as the levee district's engineering consultants.

Downtown Siren Growls Today; Workmen Repair

Activation of the bell defense warning siren at the top of the Granite City Steel Building, 20th and State Streets, at 10:45 a.m. today resulted from tests being made on the equipment by workers from R. Dorn Electric Co., Victoria R. Koenig, city police defense director, advised. Inquiries about the "growling" noise were received at police headquarters.

During a series of tests conducted by the local fire department Tuesday, the large downtown device failed to operate on schedule, Koenig said. All other sirens in the community sounded on signal, he added.

Symposium, Open House Scheduled

A symposium and open house for school principals and superintendents will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday at the Belleville Area Teachers' Center, St. Augustine's School in Belleville.

"The center is a grass-roots congregation of elementary school teachers whose purpose is to encourage local collaboration and research and dissemination for the improvement of classroom instruction in mathematics," says Thomas O'Brien, SEDU professor who started the Belleville center and another in Clayton, Mo.

Both centers have been funded by the National Science Foundation. Teachers meet at the Belleville center from 4 to 7 p.m. Wednesdays and at the Clayton center from 9:30 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

O'Brien said the purpose of the open hours is to acquaint school administrators with what the chief interests are about. Our chief interests are children, thinking and mathematics education. We believe math education is concerned with thinking, that the product of the elementary school should be students who can think and regard thinking as worthwhile, and that thinking by children needs to be attended to both as a curricular objective and as a research area."

JAMES F. THEBEAU, 53, Dies; Here 49 Years

Willard P. Hill, White House, Tenn., jackknifed his tractor truck to avoid hitting another motorist on ice Monday at Interstate 270 and Route 203.

James F. Thebeau Sr., 53, of 3220 Terrace Lane, a resident of Granite City 49 years, died at 7:25 a.m. Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. He had been ill two weeks and in the hospital the same length of time.

Mr. Thebeau was a member of St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church. He was born in Tennessee.

He was employed as a pipefitter at Consolidated Aluminum Corp. of America in Venice.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Alice Marcelle Thebeau; a son, James F. Thebeau, a Granite City attorney; three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Jurish of Ellington, Mo.; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson of Mt. Agnes, Vivod, both of Colma, Calif.; two brothers, Joseph Thebeau of Fredricktown, Mo., and Robert Thebeau of St. Louis.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

TWO AUTOS COLLIDE
At 10:30 a.m. Paula L. Acosta, Edensville, and Cecil E. Hughes, Rural Route Two, collided at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday at Nameoki and Feilings roads.

OLD IRONSIDES
The frigate Constitution (Old Ironsides) was launched at Boston Navy Yard on Sept. 20, 1797.

GC Attorney Fired $500 For Property Damage

Granite City attorney Terry Francis was found guilty of a charge of criminal damage to property following a non-jury trial Monday in St. Clair County Circuit Court at Belleville.

He was fined $500 by Circuit Judge Joseph Cunningham and was ordered to pay $500 in court costs, damage to an apartment in St. Clair Township. He was arrested in 1971 on a felony charge which later was reduced to a misdemeanor charge.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Alice Marcelle Thebeau; a son, James F. Thebeau, a Granite City attorney; three sisters, Mrs. Lillian Jurish of Ellington, Mo.; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson of Mt. Agnes, Vivod, both of Colma, Calif.; two brothers, Joseph Thebeau of Fredricktown, Mo., and Robert Thebeau of St. Louis.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

McCormick said the taxpayers, the farmers and 12 million citizens of Illinois are for the fourth year being asked to pay $100 million more than the General Assembly is going to pass it.

He indicated the hearings, which are to resume Monday, are a waste of time and should be "terminated". The General Assembly is to reconvene Jan. 14 with regular and proposed freeze sessions scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. on Jan. 15.

The Madison County Board as a whole was asked to decide if an appeal should be filed in the ruling by Circuit Judge James O. Monroe that the county's tax collection service charge ordinance is unconstitutional.

Under the ruling the county government will lose nearly $400,000 which was received from taxing bodies in the state as shares in the cost of collecting taxes.

The funds had been earmarked to finance part of county operations which were included in the 1972 budget, but the loss of money, with an inability to find other sources of revenue, would cause either deficit spending with issuance of tax anticipation warrants.

He added that the 1973 funds are due to be received in March, and that if the full amount is received, there would be a $61,000 surplus over the loss from the tax service charge.

The full board will be asked to act on the matter at its Dec. 20 meeting during the coming financial session, concluded by J. Granlich of Highland.

Full agreement seemed unlikely. Judge Monroe's ruling, as some board members feel, could be upheld in court and that a decision in the action would come too late.

Against Appeal

Other board members, especially those who are township supervisors, were expected to be against an appeal as it could have an effect on their own townships.

New State's Atty. Nicholas Byron said he would recommend that an appeal be made and that he would follow the wishes of the board.

Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City and the finance and personnel committees have been searching and considering other sources of income.

Legislation which would authorize counties to defray the cost of tax collections next year has advanced through the State House and Senate and now is in a conference committee in an attempt to iron out differences.

Committee Deadlocked
But the conference deadlocked last week and was not scheduled to meet again until the General Assembly reconvenes Dec. 14. Some members of the conference committee will give the final conference, and that settles the differences between the House and Senate versions are resolved, the leg-

The tour, arranged by the Illinois Association of School Boards and the Chicago Board of Education, was a prelude to the 58th annual IASB conference. Participants were bussed to a cross-section of schools during the all-day program. Shown observing instruction are, left to right, Mrs. Marcella Davis, principal of the host Attucks School, William F. Ogilvie Plan Upheld By Federal Court

The Ogilvie Plan, which requires the mandatory training of minority group members for highway construction trades, was defended Monday by the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The unanimous ruling by the three-judge panel upheld a former decision by Judge Omer Poos of the Southern Division of Illinois on the constitutionality of the plan.

Opponents argued that the plan favored blacks and was discriminatory. The appeals court said the plan may be the only way to end racial inequities in highway jobs in the past.

Girl Scout Council Buys Building for New Offices

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Granite Bluffs Girl Scout Council board of directors has purchased a building on a 150x150 foot tract of land in Glen Carbon to house the council offices and to store camping equipment.

The council plans to move into the renovated quarters Jan. 1, according to Verle Kins, executive director.

In an effort to accommodate 14,000 Girl Scouts and 2,500 regular adult leaders in five and half-county areas, the board negotiated for the purchase of the Glen Carbon property, which will provide much larger office space as well as parking areas.

The present offices are located in downtown Edwardsville which does not provide an adequate parking area for leaders, volunteers and the loading and unloading of equipment.

The Granite Bluffs Council has seven camp sites available to the troops with various camping schedules.

Has 1,000 Acres

Butterfly Lake near Farmington, Mo., has 1,000 acres for tent camping but as yet does not have a lodge. A cabin now at Signal Hill in Belleville has a lodge, as does Camp Chanyata three miles east of

Vadalabene Files Bill to Restore Highway Funds

A bill that would require the state to contribute $105 million worth of bonds for improvements in the highway system of District 8, which include the Quad-City area, was pre-filed Wednesday by Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville).

place funds that were lost to the Madison and St. Clair County area during the three-year freeze on federal road construction funds.

"The new bill simply continues our effort to get fair treatment for the area I represent," Vadalabene said. "I am confident that it will move through the General Assembly with dispatch and be signed by the Governor."

"Governor-Elect Dan Walker is commendably the record in favor of the restoration of these funds. There is no doubt I am introducing my new bill I am introducing in my new term, and I intend to see to it

No Valid Basis for the St. Louis and East St. Louis

Opposition to Dividing Levee and Sanitary District

St. Louis and East St. Louis newspaper advocacy of the status quo in the East Side Levee and Sanitary District is not in the best interest of Quad-Citians, judging by the district's 65-year record of taking big tax sums from this community and giving scant benefits in return.

A new chapter was added to the history of the district Monday when William M. Eberoldt of the Quad-Cities was replaced as chairman by Governor Ogilvie. Illinois senators and representatives can and should accept Bill 2416 for what it is—an effort to improve services and tax utilization for justiced public confidence in government.

It is not surprising that some St. Clair Countyans oppose it, but there is no valid, defendable basis for their opposition. The Quad-City area is not so well off economically that it could continue to be a "Springfield" or "Washington" and subsidize the East St. Louis area with local property tax dollars, even if it wanted to.

It is also not surprising that there is opposition to the proposed bond from the Missouri-St. Louis newspaper, which has amply shown its antagonism toward this side of the river in the way that paper has fought an Illinois airport a d publicized the rump Missouri-St. Louis airport board.

The proposed legislation, which branches the Illinois state government, will enact and approve Bill 2416 this month if their eyes are open and if they "consider the source" of the opposition.

Many Quad-Citians recall that it was the same Alvin Fields who once urged Governor Ogilvie and Senator Kerner to break a promise and veto a major and badly needed Quad-City drainage program. The reason was that the Fields regime had temporarily lost Levee District control and did not want rivals to have that much money to spend and that many services to render.

Now we are told that Bill 2416 dividing the levee district may have trouble passing the General Assembly Dec. 14 because a few of former East St. Louis Mayor Fields' friends in the legislature are fighting it.

What the bill is intended to do is create two separate entities in the two clearly separate communities, each with sufficient base to operate soundly and efficiently with 100% of its board rather than 60% or 40% directly answerable to its home community.

Good government and more effective administration and fiscal control are the clear goals of the plan to divide the district along the county line.

Jaycees Instrumental in Many Improvement Programs

One of the most active and effective of local service organizations, the Granite City Jaycees, once had the title of Quad-City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The 25th anniversary calls justified attention to the group's long concern with traffic safety, recreation facilities, health, athletic programs and aid to the ailing and underprivileged.

The roll call of Jaycee presidents consists of Fred Stille, Charles Cohn, George and John Karoly, Ralph Green, Thurj Jones, Donald Lambert, Claude

Hiles, Earl Young, Everett Steele, Delmar Young, Bill Wyatt, Richard Trottier, Jerry McPherson, Al Barnes, John Worthen, Earl Dotzauer, Paul A. Morris, James Burton, Boyd Presley, Mike Davis, James Jeffries, Richard Dawdy, Stanley Noe, David Partney, Bill Talley and Guy Cooper.

They and the many committee chairmen and members have played a significant role in making democracy function and in helping this to be a fine place to live, shop, play and work.

Science Role in Law Enforcement Protects Innocent

By L. Patrick Gray
Acting Director,
Federal Bureau of Investigation

Forensic Science has brought an increased sense of justice to law enforcement efforts which has greatly advanced the cause of justice.

Our ideal of justice requires objectivity tempered with compassion. Yet this ideal cannot be met if we have not the means to clearly distinguish between guilt and innocence.

Science is providing a tool which increasingly is making it easier to make this distinction with some degree of certainty.

For the past four decades, the FBI Laboratory has been in the forefront of the effort to develop law enforcement investigation—the certainty that scientific procedures and techniques can provide.

We are proud that it is determined efforts to ascertain the truth have enhanced the innocence with the same precision as they have condemned the guilty.

From a meager beginning with fewer than 1,000 examinations of evidence conducted in its first full year of operation, the FBI Laboratory has expanded in coverage to embrace all major branches of the forensic sciences and in volume to handle nearly one-half million examinations of evidence in the past fiscal year for the nation's law enforcement agencies, including those of state, local and other federal jurisdictions.

In addition, FBI Laboratory experts cross-the country daily, bringing their expertise in testimony to criminal court proceedings in every corner of the land.

These accomplishments reveal the growing awareness of all levels of the profession of the value of forensic science in law enforcement performance.

This recognition reinforces the validity of the traditional requirement of our criminal law that for a person to be found guilty, his guilt must be proven beyond a reasonable doubt.

Moreover, this acceptance of science in law enforcement gives increased reassurance to the innocent individual trapped in a seemingly insuperable web of circumstances beyond his control.

Like the symbolic figure of Justice, science is blindfolded to favoritism; it deals only with substantiated facts.

It is fitting that science has come to its aid in staunch opposition to crime.

Discovery is the life-blood of one, while concealment is vital to the other.

Science, by strengthening the forces of justice, is a powerful ally of the war on crime.

There is no doubt that its penetrating insights will expose criminals and those who commit crimes with increased frequency and decisiveness.

In this, the law enforcement profession and all others concerned with justice can take heart.

It is possible that voters in 1972 saw in the Wall Street Journal:

"The deeper concern was expressed recently in a speech by Vernon Royster, former editor of the Wall Street Journal.

Mr. Royster, like many other astute political observers, believes that voters in 1972 saw in effect, a plague on both your houses to the two major parties."

He is further quoted as saying that "it would be a power struggle between the stalemate and the executive and legislative branches of government."

It is possible that the record of the district is so bad that it is impossible for them to pass a bond issue.

The citizen's committee which was appointed by the governor and was charged with the separation spent much time studying ways of improving both sides.

It is a group knowledgeable of the district's past and very interested in the district's future.

It is simple to all of us who live in this hell's 12,000 acres or 96 square miles why we badly need this divorce.

When you get a divorce, you don't form a committee on how to get along afterwards.

Madison County has tried many times to get along with its partner, St. Clair, but our efforts have gone by the wayside along with our taxes.

We have nothing to show from the struggle but unkept levees, damaged homes, unoccupied industries and business staying clear of us because we have not had a responsive district in over 50 years.

Yes, we tired of talking it over.

As a member of Governor Ogilvie's committee, I will always be proud that I was called on to make my country a better place to live in.

Come Home, Democrats—Party Revitalization Needed

Copley News Service

The array of Democrats who are calling for the reorganization of the party are torn between human considerations and necessities.

They are led by a highly respected president, a re-energized Congress and adequately financed.

Democrats, on the other hand, have no visible keeper of the political flame and still are fed up with what they know must be done, the farther behind they fall in the repartition essential to revitalization of the two-party system.

Democrats appear to be better prepared to contest for the political affections of the disenchanted.

In the matter of Chairperson Westwood, the party leaders undoubtedly are torn between human considerations and necessities.

Politics, however, is essentially a ruthless following.

The longer Democrats delay in what they know must be done, the farther behind they fall in the repartition essential to revitalization of the two-party system.

DIVIDE DISTRICT TO CURB IRRESPONSIBILITY

To the Editor:

Who knows what evils lurk in the hearts of some people from St. Clair County who are splitting the split-up in the East Side Levee Board. The "shadow," Madison County, knows.

Madison County started to tear the levee board's playground down as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, the party's ability to close the ranks will be improved.

In reality, the problem symbolized by Mrs. Westwood goes beyond the internal structure of the Democratic Party.

The deeper concern was expressed recently in a speech by Vernon Royster, former editor of the Wall Street Journal.

Mr. Royster, like many other astute political observers, believes that voters in 1972 saw in effect, a plague on both your houses to the two major parties.

It is possible that the record of the district is so bad that it is impossible for them to pass a bond issue.

The citizen's committee which was appointed by the governor and was charged with the separation spent much time studying ways of improving both sides.

Several more national elections may have to pass before a sober judgment can be made.

Responsible officials of both parties undoubtedly would agree privately that it would be better for the state if the party of public-ethnic-religious-youth coalition (F.O.R.T.) by Fred Franklin Roosevelt in the 1930s is shattered.

However, it is not clear whether the voters disenchanted with the Democrats have yet given their total loyalties to the Republicans.

Few Violations Found In IRS 'Rent Watch'

Internal Revenue Service investigators are finding few rent increases in Central and Southern Illinois consequent to higher Social Security and Railroad Retirement payments made in during the first month of Rent Watch.

The Cost of Living Council (CLC) ordered the nationwide Rent Watch on Sept. 29 to prevent landlords from illegally raising rents to take advantage of an October increase in Social Security and Railroad Retirement payments to the elderly.

the handicapped, children and widows.

"Rent Watch is successful in the Springfield District because most landlords have complied voluntarily with federal rent regulations," said Leon C. Green, IRS district director.

"Of Illinois' 1,508,353 Social Security recipients, only 29 filed complaints with the Springfield IRS. In addition to investigating these complaints, the Springfield office initiated other investigations covering 3,500 rental units. Green continued,

"In our investigation, we found no violations in 21 cases. In 11 cases, we found minor violations and the landlords voluntarily complied when first contacted by an IRS investigator."

tacted by an IRS investigator," Green said.

The high degree of compliance in the Springfield District is typical of that found by IRS throughout the country. Only 20 IRS-initiated national investigations of 89,664 rental units during the first month and a half of Rent Watch. Only 20 violations of a "renter" nature and two major violations were observed as a result.

In addition, IRS received about 10,800 inquiries and relatively few (about 2,000) complaints from all parts of the country. The results of these investigations of 1,222 of these complaints, uncovering 292 violations. Most of the violations, or a minor technical nature (improper notifications), were corrected immediately. IRS assessed six landlords with penalties totaling $2,391.

All residential rental units under economic controls are covered by Rent Watch. Landlords are prohibited from raising rents above 2.5% per year plus any additional charges passed on to the tenant from increased taxes, municipal fees, services and capital improvements. Federal regulations also require landlords to notify tenants 30 days in advance of a rent hike.

IRS offices continue to give priority to investigating complaints from Social Security and Railroad Retirement recipients.

Award Takes Part in Experimental Classes

Some classes for 204 freshmen in the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign began on the ground floor of their dormitory and continue for hours beyond the usual 30-minute class.

The students are in Unit I, an experimental academic community of seven faculty members, five coeds and three freshmen and sophomores who live in the first three floors of Allen Hall.

Among the freshmen selected for the program, three are from the year of Michael John Award, 5104 Rapp Road.

Students attend classes in writing, communications, women's studies, graphic arts and photography while most of their teachers become engrossed in a project or discussion and spend two or three consecutive hours on it. Most classes are held after dinner to prevent conflicts with day-times classes.

Bill Blatter, acting director of Unit I, said the experiment in bringing living teachers to the students offers advantages of a small college along with the resources of a large university.

'Y Operates Venice Boys Basketball Loop

The YMCA is sponsoring two boys basketball leagues at the Venice High School Gym for fourth graders through junior high school. The program was started Nov. 18 and will continue until the end of February.

The purpose of the program is to encourage good fundamental basketball skills and good sportsmanship of the boys in the Venice High School.

Stanley Lynch, Venice teacher and coach, is the supervisor of the program. He has been working with the YMCA for more than seven years organizing boys and girls basketball teams.

Practices are held from 9 to 12 Saturday mornings. Anyone in this area may enroll for the program. Call the Venice High School office and talk with Lynch or the YMCA (876-7200) and ask for Mrs. Phillips Starnes for more detailed information.

Article by GCHS Youth Published in Magazine

(Editor's note: The following is an article by Paul Becherer of Granite City High School which is published in the December edition of "Illinois History," a magazine for young people, by Illinois State Historical Library.)

By PAUL BECHERER

One hundred and sixty years ago on Sept. 14, 1812, Madison County was organized by a proclamation of Territorial Governor William H. Wirt. It was named in honor of the fourth President of the United States and a friend of Governor Edwards, James Madison. A portion of the county was taken from St. Clair and Randolph, Gallatin and Johnson counties were included in the organization with Madison in 1812.

By the proclamation, written at Kaskaskia, the county was to have these boundaries: "To begin on the Mississippi, to run with the second town line above Cairo, east unit, to the dividing line between the Illinois and the Indiana Territories; thence with said dividing line to the line of Upper Cairo, and thence with said line to the Mississippi; thence down the Mississippi to the beginning."

The government was quickly organized by the experienced governor, who had previously been a member of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky.

During the first several years the government was autocratic, yet it was widely accepted. Governor Edwards made all political and military appointments except senators and representatives. The people were finally allowed to elect their county officials in 1818 when Edwards became a state.

The log cabin of Thomas Kirkpatrick was selected as the first county seat and court of common pleas. The only public road at that time led from his house to Cahokia. Houses soon began to spring up, and the town of Edardsville, began to prosper.

Gov. Edwards, an intelligent politician and a just leader, was faced with many spectacular problems from the very beginning of his administration as territorial governor with the exception of a very few scattered settlements, Madison County was a vast wilderness waiting to be conquered.

The population of the Illinois territory was only nine thousand in 1820 and most of those people were of southern origin.

Between 1810 and 1815 the rich soil, the natural resources, and the spirit of adventure attracted large numbers of eastern immigrants to the Mississippi River Valley.

The Indians became hostile toward the growing numbers of men settling there. But canoes and portages, many trails were erected throughout the state. The most notable in Madison County was Fort Russell at Edardsville.

With the growth of settlement across the state the subdivision of Madison County commenced and continued until it reached its present size of 71 square miles.

Even though Madison County is no longer the largest county in the state, it is still one of the most industrial counties in the Illinois.

Dial-a-Class System At Lewis-Clark

Something new has been added to make registration at Lewis and Clark Community College easier than before. Now any person interested in enrolling in a class, individual (11 hours or less) can do so merely by picking up his telephone and calling a special number: 465-7611. For three days only, Dec. 13, 14 and 15, interested persons can register for next semester classes by calling between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Five telephone operators will be on duty at all times during each of the designated days. "We expect about 18 persons from the community, all junior or senior college graduates, to serve as operators," said Terry Cross, director of admissions and records.

He felt that these people would be more familiar with college registration procedures and could perhaps answer many questions asked by prospective students.

The college's philosophy about registration is to make it as easy and painless as possible and still provide adequate guidance services. "Many people know what courses they want to take and know what they don't want to stand in line at registration," Dial-a-Class enables anyone to enroll in courses from his own home.

Admission to the dance is $5 for SIUE students and $1 for others.

Prather Smarteens Club Battles Abuse of Drugs

Prather Junior High School has a new club with more than 400 members. The club is called Smarteens. Its slogan is SOS - Stamp Out Stupidity or Speak Out Sensibly.

The major purpose of Smarteens is to get students involved in solving the drug abuse problem to make it "in thing" not to mess with drugs.

Most present drug programs are aimed at those people already involved with drugs. Smarteens had a unique approach. Statistically it can be shown that for every 25,000 teenagers 10,000 will have serious problems with drugs.

A successful program needs to touch not just the 10,000 because it is impossible to say which of the 250,000 it will be. The Smarteens approach tries to touch everybody.

The Smarteens movement has been successful throughout the United States. The state of Pennsylvania issued organic mental kits to the principals of schools. These principals encouraged the principals to initiate the program in their schools.

Judge John T. McDonough of the Washington County Probate Juvenile Court urged and got the SOS movement started in all four of the county's schools.

The judge points out that not one child under the age of 15 appeared in the juvenile court for drug usage for the 11-month period after the Smarteens campaign was started.

The initial period of drug abuse was raised from ages 8 to 10 and 16 and 17. In El Paso, Tex., Chief of Police H. T. Vogel reported that juvenile drug arrests dropped 17% drug arrests dropped 40% in one year after SOS started.

Smarteens or Smart Set, as it is known in high school, is a national organization based in Hollywood, Calif. Bill Cosby, Steve Allen and Jack Webb are among the many famous personalities affiliated with SOS.

They saturated the halls of Smarteens with anti-drug posters. They have had $70 worth of buttons and stickers. They have put up a rack in the cafeteria to provide students with free drug information and student opinions. Some Smarteens are preparing speeches and skits in hopes of speaking at grade schools.

Future projects and directions of Smarteens will be determined by the club members, but now, at least at Prather, the problem of drug abuse is in the hands of people who might be able to do something about it.

Some are taking training from the counselors to aid them in running rap sessions. They want to bring in drug movies and speakers.

Future projects and directions of Smarteens will be determined by the club members, but now, at least at Prather, the problem of drug abuse is in the hands of people who might be able to do something about it.

Professor Writes Book On Educational Theory

American educational theory in the 20th century follows a variety of paths, but according to Mason, his new book, "Contemporary Educational Theory" (David McKay Company Inc., 277 pages, paperback) has attempted to show in an orderly manner why American schools today are doing what they are doing.

Mason, an education professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, examines five theories in detail, treating them as social-historical, pragmatic, functional, for whom the liberal arts tradition and progressive education, were important mainly before World War II. The last three, the structure of the disciplines movement and the behavioristic and humanistic psychology, have been important mainly since World War II.

"If there's any theme to this book, it would be the efforts figures in education have been thinking about since John Dewey," Mason said. "Dewey's influence hasn't been quite so pervasive as it was before World War II."

The structure of the disciplines movement grew out of book is that proposals with wide popular and professional support became the greatest gain because they express a content, method and purpose which a large number of people consider important.

Press Agency Factors

"Of course factors of press agents, like liberal and militant groups of public and professional opinion and the power of the economic market place are at work," Mason said. "but it's also assumed that free critical thinking, the assessment of educational proposals. Upon this ground proposals are treated as possessing a claim to truth and goodness and the book assesses these intellectual and moral claims."

Mason said the pre-World War II argument over the relative merits of liberal arts versus vocational education receded in importance as the country became preoccupied in the 1950s and 1960s with power, national survival and defense and business-oriented goals.

The working assumption of the educational theorists locating planes movement are different planes of responding to a concern about teaching more, teaching faster and teaching more thoroughly."

Humanistic Psychology

The humanistic movement has been most influential in school guidance and counseling circles, Mason said.

"It appears to be a protest against the concentration on power, mastery, efficiency and technical prowess emphasized so strongly by the structure of the discipline advocates and the neo-behaviorists," he said. "It stresses the person, his feelings, his hopes, fears and aspirations. Many of its advocates come out of a background of clinical psychology. As psychologists, they probably are more concerned about human beings, human experience and the human condition."

Mason, who came to SIUE in 1968 after a long career that included teaching posts at the University of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania State University and Case Western Reserve University, said his latest book is designed to be relevant to the major problems of schooling in contemporary America. He is sole author of two previous books and a contributor to many more.

"Educational policy isn't the product of mindless political and economic forces shared throughout human control; we still believe that men, by taking thought, can and do shape institutions," he said. "The book treats what has happened in education in the last decade as a product of human intelligence at work on the question of 'what shall we teach our young and how shall we do it?'"

Girl Drops Hints For Engagement, Boy Not Ready Yet

By PAT and MARILYN COPELEY News Service

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I've been dating Debbie for two years. We are both 18 and seniors in high school. I have never asked Debbie to go steady but we do not date others. We always go everywhere together. Debbie is a swell gal but all of a sudden she is being bomb-hunt hints about how wonderful it would be to be engaged.

My problem is not unique but it is very serious to me.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

I am interested in being engaged and do not intend to go steady. I have my education to concentrate on at this point of my life.

How can I set this girl straight about my feelings without hurting her?

I wish that just once we could sit down and talk over a problem reasonably. I do not want to be the victim each time. If point made, I am going to quit bringing problems home. It just isn't worth the hours of discussion. How can this be solved before the road of communication is closed?

Dear Pat and Marilyn:

It is better to set a time limit before the discussion begins. Perhaps 10 minutes for each person. A lengthy debate often leads to tears.

My concern is that last year

one child rated quite a bit higher than the other on an intelli-

Many factors influence how

Public Aid Department Plans Sweeping Changes

Copley News Service

Springfield — The Illinois Public Aid department is splitting its services right down the middle, and planning even more sweeping changes in the next few years.

Essentially the new approach, mandated by federal order, will mean that in future public aid will be just that—support and maintenance work. The automatic obligation to accept social services as a pre-requisite to getting financial help.

If and when a client wants social services, he can't get them until he has to ask for them. After next summer, he'll even go to a different department to get them.

Training already has started in a commitment to reorganize the work processes and revamp the thinking of the 7,000 department employees, roughly 3,500 of them case workers who will be most affected by the new look.

Caseworkers Declined

Under the system now being abandoned, it was assumed that if a person or a family needed financial help, they would benefit from social services case work. The caseworker was the person—ideally—declined if they were eligible for aid, handled the request, helped in emergencies or with everyday problems, arranged training with professionals and gave information on birth control.

That was the ideal. In practice, case workers often didn't even see clients for long periods, didn't know them well enough to identify problems, were bogged down in paper work, and found it difficult if not impossible to give "social services" to people who didn't think they needed them and didn't want them.

Now, a case manager will be responsible for all income maintenance actions for a given number of clients, one giving advice to clients, one alerting clerical staff, coordinating the activities of staff specialists, and referring clients to social workers if and when they show any interest in accepting such services.

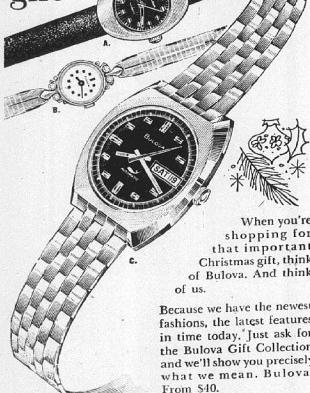

Services Still Provided

In coming months, after the new approach goes into effect,

YMCA Staff Members Take Aquatic Course

Several members of the YMCA aquatic staff took a basic leadership aquatics course at the Denver and Los Angeles YMCA in preparation for certification in leadership areas under the national YMCA's new aquatic program. The program took effect in March 1972 with a new approach to leadership training and certification.

Those who participated in the training session were Gen. Reiter, of the YMCA; Al Tharp, 2325 Zippel Ave.; Mike Tharp, 2105 Benton St.; Debbie Holt, 1025 Alton Ave., Madison, and Kent D. Dunn, YMCA physical director.

Increasing emphasis will be put on shifting social work activities to the Department of Children and Family Services, which by next June is expected to function separately from case services.

To do this, some public aid caseworkers are expected to transfer to Children and Family Services. How many will transfer, or how many Children and Family Services will need to add, won't be known until the program is started, because there is no yardstick.

With the new system of leadership training, more laymen will be certified at higher levels to meet the growing needs of the aquatic personnel in this area and across the country, a spokesman commented.

The resolution, which called upon the township to act to avoid further increases in real estate property taxes, was referred on a motion by Alderman Gerald Partney to the council as a whole for consideration and publication in the 1973-74 budget next summer.

The resolution urged city officials to apply state income tax revenue and anticipated Federal Revenue Sharing funds so as to reduce the tax levy.

Alderman Walter Nunn noted that Federal Revenue Sharing funds cannot be used for real estate tax purposes.

But Parley said the city is in a bind because such income could be applied where it is usable and thereby eliminate expenses that otherwise might have to be met by tax funds.

City Agrees With Realtors: To 'Hold Line' on Taxes

Agreement that the city does everything possible to economize and "hold the line" against further tax increases was expressed by Granite City Council members in response to a resolution adopted by the Granite City Board of Realtors and presented to both the City Council and Granite City Township.

Alderman Sam Whiteman told the council that "city employees are already beginning to look for part of the federal revenue sharing funds for salary increases next year."

"We're talking about spending money before we even get it," Whiteman said.

He added that the council's negotiating committee "will have to be hard-nosed next year, and the council will need to hold the line right along with the committee."

The text of the resolution's resolution was as follows:

Whereas, all local general tax levies have been constantly increasing over the past ten years over the past ten years and the weight of this local tax burden is a growing concern of owners of residential, commercial and industrial properties; and,

Whereas, real estate taxes are a heavy load on an immovable investment that has no chance of escape and of modifying anything to meet the problems caused by such tax levies, and,

Whereas, since the 1971 statement, with a 15% increase in the previous year, it is common knowledge that retired homeowners on fixed incomes feel compelled to sell and young married families, whose monthly house payments, determine whether they can afford to purchase properties in Granite City or must seek properties elsewhere in communities with lower tax burdens.

Whereas, as an illustration, the mayor of one nearby community recently recommended that the municipal levy for 1973 be cut 10% because of revenue and additional revenue received and scheduled to be received from the Illinois State income tax and the recently enacted Federal Revenue Sharing programs, therefore,

Auxiliaries from the 12th, 13th and 14th Districts have planned a smorgasbord luncheon, featuring turkey sandwiches, salads, desserts and desserts. They also plan to have more than 40 gifts gaily wrapped to give out as prizes.

Veterans attending will receive an inscribed diamond-point identification card covers; and toiletry articles from the Department of Illinois Auxiliaries, and a box of candies from the VFW Auxiliary Department of Illinois.

An "Outstanding Arrowman of the Year" award, installation of new Vigil Honor members, and a plaque for the program features at the annual dinner meeting of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, Dec. 29 at the First Methodist Church in Collingsville.

Working behind the scenes as a studio musician may have its drawbacks, but it also has the good fortune of acting as a catalyst for many talented unknowns.

Bread is a good example of what can happen to the studio musician, since three of its four members started out that way.

They say it was an accident — the result of a chance encounter among creative musicians who got together in 1968 to explore a new escape from supercharged notes exploding from overjuiced, frenzied days of rock.

"We sat down, started singing and jamming together as if Autos driven by Edward T. Rasky Jr., St. Louis, and Rosa E. Zivkovich, 3232 Edgewood Ave., were in an accident at 3:30 p.m. Monday at Devon Hill Lane and Edgewood Road.

— the sound just came out," recalls David Gates who has written all the group's hit songs in addition to playing the guitar, moon and violin.

"Also, we both wanted to play, write, produce and arrange, so we decided to form our own group along with Robbie Rayer and drummer Mike Botts," added lead vocalist, pianist and guitarist James Griffin.

Seven Gold Records

Since those days, Bread has come a long way, with seven gold singles and albums to their credit. Keyboard artist Larry Knechtel, who replaced Rayer several years ago, won a Grammy for his arrangement of "Bridge Over Troubled Water." He also won an Academy Award for writing "For All We Know" as a theme song for the movie "Lovers and Other Strangers," all of which attest to the group's talents.

Bread's latest efforts are now on the market in a new LP called "Guitar Man" on the Elektra label. It contains their top 40 hits by the same name and features a little bit more up-to-date material than is usually their pace.

Noted for their ear-soothing combination of folk-rock influences, the group has achieved a slightly more polished sound — that is sure to win them new fans and possibly rid them of their "purely commercial" tag.

Gates has opened a new loaf of bread and buttered most of the 12 slices with his tasteful and beautifully done ballads. "Sweet Surrender," well, it's not to mention their eighth gold single, "Aubrey" and "You're For Life" are among the best.

On the heavier side "Trottole," "Wellie Wearin' Man" and "Fancy Dancer" get the nod.

One thing that sets Bread apart from many groups is their ability to make radio stand-up rock yet still complete the sound to stay with them and rock-out. Their instruments can be followed throughout each cut without overpowering the vocal leads. And despite you don't need a sing sheet to follow the songs, are all about.

It's a pleasant change of pace for the group who works on the principle that "the simplest is the best."

Classical Side: It was in the fall of 1970 that 30-year-old Leopold Stokowski came to take over the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Now, 60 years later, RCA has put together a fascinating LP collection of Stokowski performances from the "first golden age of recording."

And what a surprise these recordings are. When the deep, muted thunder of "Sibelius' 'Finlandia'" comes out of the speakers, you have to check to make sure that this is indeed a "mono" record. The sound is simply amazing—and this was recorded on April 28, 1930. One of the answers is that Stokowski was a recording buff and did everything possible to get the best sound and performance on wax. He succeeded.

But of course there also is the Stokowski magic which would sound good even though it was one of the old society records associated with the thirties. The set includes compositions by Bach, Moussorgsky, Saint-Saens ("Danse Macabre"), Liszt ("Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2"), Rimsky-Korsakoff and Beethoven.

SIUE Grant to Fund Study Of Peiget's Theories

A private foundation has given a $5,100 grant to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to produce videotapes on the implications of Jean Piaget's theories for elementary mathematics teachers.

Thomas O'Brien, of the department of mathematics, received the grant from the Louis A. Beaumont Foundation of Cleveland will allow him to interview researchers, classroom practitioners and international leaders in the field.

The video tape project, among the top executives of the Beaumont foundation are Morton May and Stanley Goodman, chief officers of the May Department Stores Co. in St. Louis.

O'Brien, a Swiss researcher studying the theory of growth edge, has had a similar effect on education, O'Brien said.

"One central message of Piaget's research is that children's thinking is essentially different from that of the adult and the major burden of this research has been to describe the evolution of thought from infancy to adulthood," O'Brien said.

O'Brien, a resident of University City, Mo., is the originator of Teachers' Centers in Belleville and in Clayton, Mo., which recently received funding

Three-Year Study by SIUE Sociologists Published

Social change in a small Appalachian community has been studied by Robert H. Lauer, chairman of the department of sociology at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and by a former student of his.

The results of their investigation were published as "Social Change in the Valley of Edenville" in the October issue of the scholarly journal, Growth and Change.

Lauer and the former student, Donald E. Tollefson, studied the community of 13,000 persons, which they call "Edenville" in the article, for three years. Their conclusions dispute at least in part the reasons for the government's sharing of the goal of the administration of President Richard Nixon.

"Local power structures can be as stifling as federal social change as federal programs," according to the article. "Current efforts in Washington to emphasize local democracy can lead to situations as paradoxical as any created by centralization," it says. "There is no more virtue attached to local tyranny than to national tyranny."

In the article, the two sociologists concluded that social change in the community can be brought about, as it was in Edenville, only through "a combination of outside help and local discretion."

In Edenville, the outside help consisted of two Roman Catholic nuns, a young man with a Master's degree in education, a Quaker volunteer teacher, and two law students from a nearby university. "People ought to have the power to participate in decisions that affect their destiny," the article asserts, but "the new governmental effort must stress local discretion to the point where that discretion will as effectively impede change as any centralized bureaucracy."

The article suggests that, as an alternative to revenue sharing, social change can be brought about, as it was in Edenville, by "a combination of outside help and local discretion."

In Edenville, the outside help consisted of two Roman Catholic nuns, a young man with a Master's degree in education, a Quaker volunteer teacher, and two law students from a nearby university. "People ought to have the

She presented Stanley with a drum for his "birthday." curtain time for the Harold Pinter play is 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater.

CARE Opens Food Crusade for Children

The holiday-season CARE Food Crusade campaign now under way appeals to Americans to help save children in countries where hunger and malnutrition are the biggest killers of the young.

Frank L. Goroff, executive director, has announced that $750,000 is needed to complete year-round plans that will help all children served regularly at preschool and nutrition centers, primary schools and other institutions.

Operating costs contributed by local governments and United States donations of farm abundance will multiply the public contributions.

In addition to regular surveys in the developing nations, children under five form 20% of the population but account for over 60% of the deaths, with malnutrition the biggest single cause of child mortality," Goroff stated.

"Moreover, malnutrition restricts the physical or mental growth of more than half the children who survive. CARE seeks not just to keep children alive, but to provide them with nutrients that will enable them to grow into healthy, educated, self-supporting adults."

Linked with CARE are medical aid, the Food Crusade helps develop self-sufficient communities in countries like Latin America, Africa, Asia and the Middle East. Child-feeding sites include facilities the agency helps build and hospitals where medical teams are sent by MEDICO, a service of CARE.

While children have priority, food aid also goes to the aged, disabled veterans and to those provided families through food-for-work projects to build community improvements.

In addition to the U.S. contribution, donations from other nations are met. CARE buys other foods to match country and nutritional deficiencies. Under the direction of American staff members in each area, supplies are delivered in the name of the American people. Contributions may be sent to CARE Food Crusade, Dept. 200, S. State St., Chicago, Ill. 60604.

Continuous feeding programs operate in British Honduras, Sri Lanka (Ceylon), Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Greece, Guatemala, Jordan, Korea, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Israel-Gaza, Jordan, Kenya, Liberia, Macau, Pakistan, Panama, Paraguay, Portugal, Saudi Arabia, South Vietnam, Tunisia and Turkey.

At times, as needs arise, CARE also sends food aid to support other projects.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS L. REES. They exchanged wedding vows at St. Joseph Roman Catholic Church. The bride is the daughter, Miss Debra C. Mayes, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Rocky) Mayes, 2161 Pontoon Road.

St. Joseph Church Scene Of Rees-Mayes Nuptials

Miss Debra C. Mayes, a bride, wore identical dresses fashioned in ivory Cluny lace and sapphire blue chiffon.

The little bridesmaids were created of lace, and the chiffon skirts terminated at the hem in a wide chiffon ruffle. Each attendant carried a single long stemmed rose.

The Rev. Henry Mack performed the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the morning. George Hargrove sang "Turn Around and Look At Me," and "One Hand, One Heart," accompanied by Philis Vance at the organ.

For the reception the bride wore a full length gown of ivory Cluny lace designed with a high scalloped neckline. Empire bodice and long tapered sleeves. One tiny seed pearl graced the delicate lace scallops trimming the bodice and forming the hem of the very full skirt that extended into a cathedral length train.

She chose a headpiece of Cluny lace embellished with pearls to secure her tiered updo of bridal illusion, and she held six long stemmed roses festooned with red ribbon and tulle.

Maid of honor, Miss Sherrill Jewett, and bridesmaids, Misses Donna and Mary Lou Rees, sisters of the groom and his bride, respectively, seated the guests.

About 400 guests were received at a reception held at Long Lake Firemen's Hall.

The bride is employed as a typist in the office of the supervisor of assessments at the Madison County courthouse in Edwardsville.

Her husband is a student at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, and is advertising manager of Alestle, the SIUE campus newspaper.

Hospital Notes

Patients admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital Saturday, Dec. 2, included: Shirley Smith, 24, Sunny Shore; Judy Neutraling, Glen Elwood; Lucile Delgado, 32, Edgewood; Richard Grogan, Rural Route 1; Mary Kofahl, 1629 Madison; B. Campos, 1647 Main; Lucas VanBuskirk, 314 Wilson Park; Byron Carlson, 2001 Ash.

Patients admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital Sunday, Dec. 3, included: Paula Campos, 1647 Maple; Edgar Kofahl, 1629 Market; Barbara Whitehead, 2317 Paul; Margaret Harris, 1725 Spruce; Donald Johnson, 2342 Kirkpatrick; Joanna Clatts, 48 Kaseberg; Mary Horvath, 1754 Edgewood; Richard Grogan, 1629 Madison; James Smith, 1206 Kirk Wilson Park; Frank Kelly, 1206 St. Louis.

Patients admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital Monday, Dec. 4, included:

In dismissing the petition, the PCB noted that its jurisdiction to adopt regulations in the area of noise pollution is restricted to noise which originates from the boundaries of the property where the noise is generated.

Without going into the question of whether young Tybalt's index finger became too noisy, the board did note that the "proposed regulation is essentially one in the category of common sense," which does not fall within the area of control envisioned by the Legislature for which the board is authorized to enact regulations.

Keeping its proposed regulation at a suitable level (below 85 decibels) the board did offer a softly-spoken sop to the C.A.N., by adding that the board was not making any determinations as to what other measures might be needed or valuable, but was merely going on record that the question "is not within our legal province."

Weighing Matters

On somewhat weightier—and noisier—matters the PCB is expected soon to release the long-awaited standards for noises emitted by stationary sources—industry and the like. The first of several series of public hearings was held by the board earlier this month, and some 2,000 pages of transcribed testimony are now under study.

John Moore, of the noise pollution control division of the Environmental Protection Agency, said the PCB could decide to hold another public hearing or two on the proposed standards, but "we expect the final regulations to be forthcoming quite, quite soon."

A little further in the future, presumably, are the standards for noise pollution from ground transportation (railroads, trucks, snowmobiles and such), and the separate areas of noise pollution from air, both of which are at the tentative draft stage.

Even further out of sight—or hearing—are eventual regulations which control the amount of noise which will be permitted in construction work.

All together now, let's whisper through two choruses of "Silent Night."
